Employee-based volunteer programs. Time is donated to selected organizations equaling, for example, 50 hours.

Upon receipt of a signed completion form from the not-for-profit, the corporation makes a dollar donation to that organization.

Citigroup and others offer this program.

Employee collection drives can be successful and minimize the amount of corporate paperwork required. Matching funds from the corporation raises employee and community good will.

A Matching Funds program can be considered a unique benefit of working for your corporation. Employees gift organizations with donations, and the corporation matches those funds. Many corporations offer this program.
